CHILD AND YOUNG PERSON RISK MANAGEMENT STRATEGY

Purpose

Darling Point Sailing Squadron (DPSS) is committed to providing a safe and enjoyable environment for all children who participate in sailing related activities at our club.

The purpose of this Child and Youth Risk Management Strategy is to:

- identify risk areas that might harbour child harm
- remove child harm from all aspects surrounding the activities of sailing at DPSS
- protect all children from exposure to harm
- provide a consistent application of processes and penalties for breaches to the Codes of Conduct/Ethics where the breach relates to child harm
- educate the DPSS community about the Member Protection Policy, this Strategy and the procedures.

In order to comply with the legislative framework, a Child and Youth Risk Management strategy must address eight (8) minimum requirements. These requirements:

- address an organisation's commitment to creating a safe and supportive service environment
- strengthen an organisation's capability to provide such an environment
- assist an organisation to manage any particular concerns with respect to the safety and wellbeing of children and young people who are involved with the organisation, and
- promote the consistency of an organisation's approach to risk management, both within the organisation and with respect to compliance with the requirements under the Act.

The eight requirements are:

Commitment

- 1. A statement of commitment to the safety and wellbeing of children and the protection of children from harm.
- 2. A code of conduct for interacting with children.

Capability

3. Written procedures for recruiting, selecting, training and managing staff and volunteers.

Concerns

- 4. Policies and procedures for handling disclosures or suspicions of harm, including reporting guidelines.
- 5. A plan for managing breaches of your risk management strategy.
- 6. Risk management plans for high risk activities and special events.

Consistency

- 7. Policies and procedures for managing compliance with the blue card system.
- 8. Strategies for communication and support.

COMMITMENT

1. Statement of commitment

Darling Point Sailing Squadron is committed to providing services to children and young people to assist them to enjoy, participate, develop and compete in the sport of sailing.

We will ensure that child safety and wellbeing is embedded in our organisational culture, reflected in our policies and procedures, and understood and practised at all levels of our organisation.

We are committed to providing a safe and supportive environment ensuring the safety and wellbeing of children and young adults participating in activities and events at the club.

2. Code of Conduct

DPSS instructors, coaches and volunteers must follow the DPSS Codes of Conduct (in Member Protection Policy) which outline how to interact with children, young people and others.

Avoid being alone with a child

To protect yourself and the child from risk:

- Do not isolate yourself and a child and avoid being alone with any particular child
- If a child approaches you and wants to talk to you privately about a matter, do so in an open area and in sight of other adults (e.g. other coaches, officials or parents/guardians)
- Before going into change rooms knock or announce that you will be coming in. Have at least one adult with you in a change room with children.

3. Recruiting, selecting, training and managing staff and volunteers

DPSS will ensure that the organisation takes all reasonable steps to ensure that it engages the most suitable and appropriate people to work with children in positions of instructing or coaching.

This may be achieved using a range of screening measures. Such measures will aim to minimise the likelihood of engaging (or retaining) people who are unsuitable to work with children.

DPSS will ensure that working with children checks/criminal history assessments are conducted for employees and volunteers working with children, where an assessment is required by law.

If a criminal history report is obtained as part of their screening process, DPSS will ensure that the criminal history information is dealt with in accordance with relevant state requirements.

Volunteers

When recruiting volunteers for DPSS, it is encouraged that all volunteers hold a current blue card or are eligible to receive a blue card.

Being an organisation that deals with children, young adults and adults there are roles that do not require a blue card.

Any volunteer of 18 years of age or older who is working with or making decisions on behalf of children must have a blue card.

Officials, instructors and coaches

Any official, instructor and coach of 18 years of age or older who is working with or making decisions on behalf of children must have a blue card.

Officials, instructors and coaches are encouraged to read the Codes of conduct, Member Protection Policy and Child and Youth Risk Management Strategy to ensure that they understand their responsibilities to all participants of our sport.

Induction program

An annual induction program which includes details of the organisation's child and youth risk management strategy will assist instructors and coaches to understand their role in providing a safe and supportive environment for children and young people.

CONCERNS

4. Handling disclosures or suspicions of harm, including reporting guidelines

The following policy and procedures will ensure that adults respond as quickly as possible and in the best interests of the child or young person under 18 years of age, when disclosures or suspicions of harm are received. DPSS recognises that children and young people are vulnerable members of the community and that extra measures must be taken to protect and support them.

All DPSS instructors and volunteers will report disclosed or suspected harm to either the Department of Communities (Child Safety Services) or the Queensland Police Service who will decide on an appropriate course of action.

Harm

Harm is defined under the Child Protection Act 1999 as 'any detrimental effect of a significant nature on the child's physical, psychological or emotional wellbeing. For harm to be significant, the detrimental effect on the child's wellbeing must be substantial or serious, more than transitory and must be demonstrable in the child's presentation, functioning or behaviour'.

Harm may be categorised in the following types:

- physical abuse, for example, beating, shaking, burning, biting, causing bruise or fractures by inappropriate discipline, giving children alcohol, drugs or inappropriate medication
- emotional or psychological abuse, for example, constant yelling, insults, swearing, criticism, bullying, not giving children positive support and encouragement
- neglect, for example, not giving children sufficient food, clothing, enough sleep, hygiene, medical care, leaving children alone or children missing school, and
- sexual abuse or exploitation, for example, sexual jokes or touching, exposing children to sexual acts or pornography or having sexual intercourse with a child or young person under 16 years of age (even if the child appears to have consented).

Reasonable grounds to suspect harm

DPSS instructors and volunteers may have 'reasonable grounds' to suspect harm if:

- A child or young person informs a DPSS instructor or volunteer that they have been harmed
- Someone else, for example, another child or young person, a parent, or a staff member, tells a DPSS instructor or volunteer that harm has occurred or is likely to occur
- A child or young person informs a DPSS instructor or volunteer they know someone who has been harmed. It is possible the child may be referring to themselves
- Disclosure of Harm

A disclosure of harm occurs when someone, including a child, tells you about harm that has happened or is likely to happen. Disclosures of harm may start with:

- 'I think I saw...'
- 'Somebody told me that...'
- 'Just think you should know...'
- 'I'm not sure what I want you to do, but...'

Handling disclosures and suspicions of harm

DPSS has a comprehensive Membership Protection Policy and all coaches, instructors, volunteers and members must abide by this policy.

An Incident Report Form is at Attachment 2.

5. Managing breaches of the strategy

This plan outlines the steps to be taken following a breach of the child and youth risk management strategy in order to address the breach in a fair and supportive manner.

Definition

A breach is any action or inaction by any member of the organisation, including children and young people, who fails to comply with any part of the strategy. This includes any breach in relation to:

- statement of commitment to the safety and wellbeing of children and the protection of children from harm
- codes of conduct for interacting with children and young people
- procedures for recruiting, selecting, training and managing paid employees and volunteers
- policies and procedures for handling disclosures or suspicions of harm, including reporting guidelines
- policies and procedures for implementing and reviewing the children and youth risk management strategy and maintaining an employee register
- risk management plans for high risk activities and special events, and
- strategies for communication and support

All stakeholders are to be made aware of the actions or inactions that form a breach as well as the potential outcomes of breaching the child and youth risk management strategy.

Who Must Comply With This Plan?

- coaches, instructors, volunteers and contractors
- management committee members
- parents and carers
- children and young people

Processes to Manage a Breach

Breaches will be managed in a fair, unbiased and supportive manner. The following will #### occur:

- all people concerned will be advised of the process
- all people concerned will be able to provide their version of events
- the details of the breach, including the versions of all parties and the outcome will be recorded
- matters discussed in relation to the breach will be kept confidential, and
- an appropriate outcome will be decided.

Handling complaints and breaches

Complaint handling procedures are set out in Section 10 of the Member Protection Policy.

Suitable Outcomes for Breaches

Depending on the nature of the breach, outcomes may include:

- emphasising the relevant component of the child and youth risk management strategy, for example, the code of conduct
- providing closer supervision
- further education and training
- mediating between those involved in the incident (where appropriate)
- disciplinary procedures if necessary, or
- reviewing current policies and procedures and developing new policies and procedures if necessary.

6. Risk management plans for high-risk activities and special events

Planning Activities

An important part of planning any activity is assessing the actual and potential risks to everyone involved. Conducting a risk assessment is an effective way to do this.

When doing a risk assessment and planning activities, consider:

- the number of people taking part
- their age and gender mix
- the age range of the participants
- the type of activity
- the environment where the activity will take place (on-water, on the rigging lawn, inside the club house)
- the particular needs of individual participants, and
- the policies and procedures of DPSS.

In addition, some basic principles need to be considered when planning activities. These include:

- maximising opportunities for children and young players to enjoy themselves and have fun
- ensuring your activities support the interests and wellbeing of children and young players
- being aware that children and young players should not be left unattended
- ensuring instructors, coaches, officials and volunteers know where children and young sailors are at all times, and what they are doing
- providing constant adult supervision over any activity in potentially dangerous situations
- ensuring children and young players are supervised by appropriate numbers of adults depending on numbers and age of children and type of activity, and
- ensuring no dangerous behaviour by children and young people is allowed.

Who is responsible for what?

It can be easy to overlook the need to clearly identify who is responsible for what when providing an activity. This could include responsibilities such as:

- who will check the site before it is used?
- who will check the boats and equipment and to see if it works beforehand?
- who will do any setting up that needs to be done?
- who will be responsible for delivering the actual activity?
- who will stay behind until everyone has left?

Supervision

Supervising an activity is a critical element in dealing with children and young players. Supervision will be provided by DPSS's instructors, coaches and volunteers. Some aspects to consider include:

- ensuring instructors, coaches and officials are appropriately qualified, well trained and have current competencies
- ensuring there are enough people to supervise the number of children and young sailors involved in the activity
- making instructors, coaches and officials aware of their rights and responsibilities as well as the rights and responsibilities of all others involved in the activity, and
- ensuring supervisors adhere to the polices and Code of Conduct (Member Protection Policy).

Instructors, coaches and volunteers who supervise or provide an activity are often in a position to build relationships with the children and young players. These relationships should be positive and contribute to the interests and wellbeing of children and young people.

Monitoring activities

It is important to take an active interest in what actually occurs at each activity. The management committee and DSC Principal should determine how well instructors, coaches and volunteers are performing their duties and whether they are acting in an ethical and appropriate way.

This can be achieved by adopting and designing appropriate strategies such as:

- supervising instructors and volunteers
- conducting random audits (checks) of activities
- conducting surveys to find out how the participants felt about the activities
- rotating instructors and volunteers to supervise different activities, and
- monitoring the development of children and young sailors as a result of the activities and addressing any deficiencies.

By implementing a combination of strategies, the chance of inappropriate behaviour occurring is decreased.

CONSISTENCY

7. Compliance with the requirements of the blue card system

Information about blue cards is at www.bluecard.qld.gov.au

Who requires a blue card or exemption card?

You will need a blue card if your work relates to sport or active recreation and includes:

- providing services to children
- conducting activities with children.

People who will need a blue card include:

- a person employed to provide personal training, instructing or coaching to children
- all DPSS paid instructors and coaches
- alll volunteers if the usual functions include or are likely to include providing services directed mainly towards children, or conducting activities mainly involve children, unless an exemption applies.

These people will not need a blue card:

- a parent volunteering at the same place their child is participating in the activities (unless they are a restricted person, who cannot rely on this exemption).
- a person providing these activities as part of a sports club.

Who cannot apply for a blue card or exemption card?

To help ensure the safety of children and young people in Queensland, the blue card system stops certain people from holding or applying for a blue card such as:

- people convicted of disqualifying offences
- current negative notice holders
- people convicted of serious offences as they can only hold a blue card in exceptional circumstances.

Records of employee and volunteer blue cards

DPSS instructors, coaches and officials without a valid Blue Card must not work with children or young people.

DPSS maintains a blue card register in the organisation portal containing the personal details and blue card details of all existing instructors, coaches, officials, members and volunteers who work with children and young people. This register includes:

- The date of issue of the blue card or exemption
- The expiry date of the blue card, and
- The renewal date (this will be set at least 30 business days before expiry to allow employees to continue working in child-related employment).

Instructors must submit a renewal application before the expiry date of their blue card to continue working in regulated child-related employment.

DPSS also maintains an employment/volunteer record of the following information for all DPSS instructors, coaches, officials and volunteers:

- Whether a negative notice has been issued
- Any change in status to a blue card (e.g. a change in police information, the positive notice and blue card is cancelled or suspended)
- When there is a change in police information, when DPSS informed Blue Card Services of the change, and
- Any changes of personal information of an employee, including the date they informed Blue Card Services.

Notifying Blue Card Services

Where a DPSS instructor, coach, officials or volunteer holding a blue card advises that there has been a change in their police information, DPSS is to be informed and will advise Blue Card Services immediately through submitting a change in police information notification form. DPSS must not continue to employee the instructor or coach until the form has been submitted. The instructor or coach is not required to disclose the specific nature of the change, only that a change has occurred.

Where an employee or contractor stops being employed, DPSS will also submit a 'no longer with organisation' form.

8. Strategies for communication and support

DPSS is committed to communicating the Strategy, as well as the consequences of breaching the Strategy, to all stakeholders including members, instructors, coaches, officials, volunteers, children and young people, parents and guardians.

These stakeholders will be made aware of the Strategy through the following avenues:

- Updates and reminders on child and youth risk management strategy through emails and club updates
- General communication of policies and strategies through
  - o General meetings and AGM
  - o Club correspondence
  - o Risk management templates
- DPSS instructors, officials and committee members will be aware of and have read the Child and youth risk management strategy and will be on hand to help/inform any stakeholders where assistance is required.

Who requires a blue card or exemption card?

You will need a blue card for work at a club that includes providing services to children and conducting activities with children. A blue card is required for people working or volunteering:

- with a children's sports team
- as a board or committee member—such as a president, treasurer or secretary member—for a community organisation that provides regulated services for children.

Under this category, you may not need a blue card if you are a parent who volunteers at an organisation your child attends and you provide the same or similar services to those your child is receiving at the club.

For example, if a parent volunteers at their child's sporting club as a team manager/coach for their child's team, and does not perform another role within the club such as a timekeeper for another junior team, a blue card is not required. This is because the services the parent provides are the same or similar to those their own child receives at the club, and they are captured by the volunteer parent exemption (unless a restricted person). A restricted person cannot rely on the volunteer parent exemption.

However, if the same parent proposes to volunteer at their child's sporting club as a Secretary of the Committee, or officiates other junior teams, they are not providing the same or similar services that their child is receiving at the club and a blue card is required.

Clubs are best placed to determine whether the services or activities a volunteer parent will provide are the same or similar to those their child receives at the organisation.

You should check with your about the proposed activities of any volunteer role and whether a blue card is required.

Under 18 years of age

- You will need a blue card if you are under the age of 18 years and proposing to engage in paid work at a club. For example, a young person who is getting paid to do babysitting.
- You don't need a blue card if you are a paid employee, volunteer or student and you work for no more than 7 days in a calendar year. A calendar year starts from 1 January and ends on 31 December. A 'day' is for any period of time on 1 day, irrespective of whether it is a full day or part day. You cannot rely on the frequency test if you are a restricted person or a running a business.
- You don't need a blue card if you are a volunteer who is under 18 (a restricted person cannot rely on this exemption). If you continue volunteering after you turn 18, you will need to apply for a blue card. We can accept your application 3 months before you turn 18 and, if it's approved, your card will be issued on your 18th birthday.

Attachment 3: MANDATORY REPORTING OF SUSPECTED CHILD ABUSE

Reference: https://www.sailing.org.au/integrity/gld-childsafeguarding/

Mandatory reporting of suspected child abuse

Recently, the law in Queensland has changed to better protect children from abuse. Specifically, two new obligations have been introduced:

- All adults are now mandatory reporters. That is, all adults in the community that reasonably believe (or should reasonably believe) that a child under 16 is the victim of current or past sexual abuse must report it to the police as soon as possible, unless they have a reasonable excuse.
- 2. Adults employed by, or who volunteer for, an institution that provides services or facilities for children have a duty to protect children from sexual abuse. Specifically, such a person commits an offence if they:
  - a. Know there is a significant risk that another adult associated with the institution will commit a sexual offence against a child under 16 who is under the care, supervision or control of an institution; and
  - b. Have the power or responsibility to reduce or remove the risk; and
  - c. Wilfully or negligently fail to reduce or remove the risk.
